Heats are on for the SCLAA National Forklift Championships

The SCLAA is pleased to once again host the National Forklift Championships to recognise the importance of forklift operation and operators in the Supply Chain and Logistics industry.

Last year's winners Angela Mulloy (Pacific Brands) and Trevor Webb (Sydney Markets) will defend their titles in Melbourne in April in 2009. Entries are open now. The national competition is once again supported by Schaefer Systems International and Hyster forklifts.

This national competition will allow forklift operators an opportunity to drive a forklift to a national standard, compete with others around Australia, win excellent prize money, receive a silver trophy and achieve national recognition as a champion.

The competition is open for males and females who have a current forklift licence and can drive either a reach truck or counterbalanced forklift truck in racking.

This competition is based on knowledge and skill not on speed. Safety is very important. Competitors start with a score of 0 and receive points for any errors made. The winner (Male and Female) is the individual with the lowest number of points.

Heat 1 will be held in the month of October across Brisbane, Sydney and Melbourne.
