ALICIA'S QUESTION TO YOU...

'Do you want to host the next Trainee or Apprentice of the year?'

Yes? Well we are constantly collecting and interviewing candidates for the timber industry. There has been a lot of interest from job seekers in areas such as estimating and detailing, internal sales, wood machining and office administration. A lot of job seekers are applying for these traineeships and apprenticeships, looking for an opportunity to get their foot in the door of an exciting industry. Our hosts also look at our trainees and apprentices as a simple solution to save time and resources that go with looking for staff.

Perhaps you don't have enough work for a full time employee, but would like to give a young person an opportunity enter the timber industry! School Based is the perfect solution. There is currently a huge number of students looking for a school based apprenticeship or traineeship. They are enthusiastic and have the support of both the school and their parents.

If you would like to get involved with training new entrants into the industry or perhaps would like to employ qualified staff, please give me a call on 3847 4637.

I would also like to congratulate Riley Albiston and Albert Johnson and their hosts, Stairco and Lindsay Meyers on winning Apprentice and Trainee of the year! You are both great ambassadors for successful training within the industry!

Veolia are offering TABMA members free site assessments to provide a quote specific to your needs, identify areas for improvement and further cost savings.

With rising costs, many timber companies have been forced to look for alternatives to steel strapping. Polyester Strapping (PET) is the solution! PET strapping is strong, safe and easy to use. PET strapping enjoys consistent tensile strength and elongation, which absorbs shock and impact during transportation. Unlike steel, PET does not have sharp edges and is guaranteed not to cut hands during handling, application or removal.

Engineered specifically for the application of PET strapping is the Fromm P325. The P325 is a light-weight, ergonomically designed, one handed operation tool that can cater for strap up to 19mm. It is battery operated, making it ideal for mobile timber strapping applications. AWS is happy to provide free advice to any TABMA member about converting from steel to PET strapping. AWS also offers TABMA members the option to rent or buy the Fromm P325 with no capital necessary. AWS are the exclusive distributors of the Fromm P325 and have specialised in providing innovative and cost-effective strapping solutions since 1977. For more information contact AWS, freecall 1800 023 890 or email sales@austwarehouse.com.au.
